Cupcake Caper Solved!

PORTLAND, OREGON – An as yet unidentified source has helped Ranger Gandy of the Oregon Fish and Wildside Sasquatch Investigation Team solve at least one mystery surrounding Sasquatch: Bigfoot apparently does indeed love cupcakes! A concerned citizen caught Sasquatch red handed (or should that be hairy handed?) yesterday diving into a plate of chocolate cupcakes with white frosting and had the where-with-all to snap a photo (below) before fleeing the scene.

Numerous other sightings have been reported in the Portland area, with additional photos available through the NAE4-HA application. Ranger Gandy is grateful to NAE4-HA attendees who are so graciously helping in his investigation. He reminds folks to be careful should they see the hairy creature, as no one can predict what he/she/it will do.
